DIRECT SUPPORT PRACTICE CERTIFICATE

18 credits

The Direct Care Practice Certificate Program trains practitioners to provide direct service and support to individuals, families and groups in the community. In this 18-credit program, students learn multiple roles of direct care workers in public and private sectors. Includes academic courses and a practicum. The program incorporates skill standards established on a nationwide basis through the Community Support Skills Standards Project, thereby ensuring consistency in direct care service.

HUMAN SERVICES A.A.S.

64 credits

Students who complete this program earn an Associate in Applied Science degree as well as the certificate in Direct Support Practice. The program is sufficiently comprehensive to qualify graduates for a variety of entry-level positions in public and private sector human service agencies. Depending on personal interests and career plans, students in this program may elect specialized courses and supervised field work in the areas of family and children's services, developmental disabilities, mental health treatment, crisis intervention, and gerontology.
